From MINISTERS of the GOSPEL within the Province of London, whose Names are Subscribed :

Delivered to His Excellency by some of the Subscribers, Jan. 18. 1648.

With desire to have it communicated to the Generall Councell of the Army.

May it please your Excellency, with those of your Councell :

Whereas of late divers Applications have been made, as well in writing as by verball Messages, inviting the Ministers of London, or some of them, to meet with the Officers of the Army, in their consultations about matters of Religion; We, Ministers of the Gospell within the Province of London, hold it our Dutie, as then to reuse any such meeting as was proposed; so now to give your Lordship and your Councill the Reasons of that Refusall, least by our silence wee should seeme to be wanting in that ingennity and Candor which becomes all, but especially the Ministers of Jesus Christ. And understanding that some of our Brethren, at one Conference before your Lordship and some of your Councill, (a) and at another with some of your chiefe Officers, (b) have already manifested their dislike, both of your late Actions towards many of the Worthy Members of the Honourable House of Commons, and what likewise you have published in your late Remonstrance and Declaration, as your intention for settling the Affaires of the Kingdome, (as wee were informed by some of them, and willed thns to signifie,) Wee thought fit hereby to manifest our Concurrence with those our Reverend Brethren; Humbly desiring, That while we use that Plainnesse and Freedome which becommeth the Ambassadors of Christ, this our performance may not be misinterpreted, either as a transgressing the Law of Christian meeknesse, or an exceeding the Bounds of Ministeriall liberty; Wee being commanded to cry aloud, and to lift up our voyces as Trumpets, to shew the People their Transgressions, and the house of Jacob their finnes.

Had a Conference been desired with us onely to have given you resolution, whether the wayes wherein at the present you are walking, are agreeable to the Word of God, (which Case indeed had beene suitable for private persons to have propounded, and for Ministers of the Gospell to have resolved) Wee should most willingly and freely have delivered our Judgements (as our forementioned Brethren have done) concerning these your practises; and have given you this as our Advice, grounded upon Scripture; Namely, That in stead of proceeding further in such unwarrantable courses, you should have testified your timely and godly sorrow for what what (so clearely against the direct Rule of the Word) you have already acted.

† And if only for the clearing of this Case, a Conference had been desired, It was from the first professed that we should be ready and willing to meet, where and with whom soever, to assert and maintain our Judgement therein. But as if the justnesse of your way were already granted by us; We were onely invited to contribute our assistance in prosecution of what you had undertaken, which we conceive to be out of your Sphere; And for us to have joyned in any consultations of this nature, would have made us accessory unto them; guilty of the evill which is in them, and even partakers of other mens sinnes, contrary to the Apostles rule, who bids us abstaine even from all appearance of evill, and have no fellowship with the unfruitfull works of darkness, but reprove them rather.

1 Tim. 5. 22.

1 Thes. 5. 22.

Ephes. 5. 11.

It is already sufficiently knowne (besides all former miscarriages) what Attempts of late have beene put in practice against lawfull Authority: Especially by your late Remonstrance, and Declaration published in opposition to the proceedings of Parliament; As also by seizing and imprisoning the Kings person, without the knowledge and consent of Parliament, and by that late unparalleled violence offered to the Members of it, forcibly hindring above one hundred of them (if we mistake not the number) from sitting in Parliament, Imprisoning many of their Persons; though many of them are knowne to us to be men of eminent Worth and Integrity, and who have given most ample Testimony of their reall Affections to the good of the Kingdome; and besides all this, there is an intent of Framing and contriving a new module, aswell of the Lawes and Government of the Kingdome, as of the Constitution of a new kinde of Representative (as you call it) in stead of this and all suture Parliaments ; and this to be Subscribed throughout the Kingdome , under the notion of an Agreement of the People ; as is Declared in your late Remonstrance, of November, 16. 1648. pag. 67. All which practices we cannot but judge, to be manifestly opposite to the lawfull Authority of those Magistrates, which God hath set over us, and to the Duty and Obedience, which by the Lawes of God and Man , and by our manifold Oathes and Covenants, we stand obliged to render to them. And therefore we judge it our Duty , rather to testifie our utter dislike, and detestation, then to give any (though but implicate and interpretative) approbation of them.

Prov. 24. 21.

2 Theff. 3. 6.

* ἀτάκτως

Tit. 3. 1.

Rom. 13. 1. 2.

We remember the advice of Solomon, *Feare thou the Lord, and the King, and meddle not with them that are given to change ; And that of Paul, Withdraw from every Brother that walketh * disorderly, and not according to the Traditions which you have received of us : Of which this is one , Put them in minde to be subject to Principallities and Powers, and to obey Magistrates : And, Let every soule be subject to the higher Powers, for there is no power but of God, the Powers that be are Ordained of God : Whosoever therefore resisteth the Power, resisteth the Ordinance of God, and they that resist, shall receive to themselves damnation. The feare of God therefore (whose Ordinance is violated, when Magistracie is opposed) makes us afraid of meddling with those who without any Colour of Legall Authoritie, meerey upon the presumption of Strength, shall attempt such Changes as these are. And Wee cannot but be deeply affected with grieve and astonishment , to see that an Armie, raysed by Authoritie of Parliament, for the Preservation of the Priviledges thereof, and of our Religion, Lawes and Liberties , should contrarie to their trust, and many Ingements, do that which tends to the manifest Subversion of them all.*

Wee

Wee have not forgotten those declared Grounds and Principles, upon which the Parliament first tooke up Armes, and upon which Wee were induced to joyne with them; (from which Wee have not hitherto declined, and We trust through Gods grace never shall.) Wee remember, That when the King, with a multitude of Armed men, demanded but a small Number (in comparison of those now secluded by you) of the Members of Parliament: It was deemed such an horrid Violation of their Priviledges, and an act so Injurious, and Destructive to the good of the Kingdome, as had not (then) any Precedent or Parallel; And of what nature it was judged to be, by a Parliament then free and full may appeare by the Order of the House of Commons of Januarie 3. 1641. When, hearing but of a purpose in the King to Seise upon some of their Members, they Declared, “ If any Person whatsoever, shall offer to Arrest, or Detaine, the Person of any Member of this House, without first acquainting this House therewith, and receiving further Order from this House, That it is lawfull for such Member, or any Person to assist him, and to stand upon his or their Guard of Defence, and to make resistance, according to the Protestation taken to Defend the Priviledges of Parliament; and by the Declaration of Januarie 17. 1641. That the Arresting of any Member of Parliament, by any Warrant whatsoever, without a Legall Proceeding against them, and without consent of that House, whereof such Person is a Member, is against the Libertie of the Subject, and a Breach of Priviledge of Parliament; And the Person which shall Arrest any of these Persons “son, or any other Member of the Parliament, is “Declared a Publique Enemie of the Common“wealth.

And this Violation of their Priviledges, was that which did Occasion first a Guard, and was afterwards one Reason of rayling an Armie: But that an Armie thus rayled by their Authoritie, and for their Preservation, should now so farre exceed that Act which was then esteemed without Parallel, could hardly have beene Imagined by us, had not our Eyes beene Witnessees of it.

And although both Houses of Parliament (who are joyntly together with the King, intrusted with the Supream Authoritie of the Kingdome) saw cause to take up Armes for their owne Defence, against the Attempts made upon them by the King and his Evill Councillours; and for the Preservation of the Protestant Religion Established (which was then endangered by the growth of severall Errours and Innovations;) and for the securing of the Fundamentall Lawes and Constitutions of the Kingdome, which they apprehended then to be undermined by severall Illegall incroachments: Yet this cannot be pleaded as any Justification or Precedent for you (who, in reference to the Power of Magistracie, are but private persons) to usurpe an Authoritie over King and Parliament, and to intermeddle with affaires which belong not to you. For the Lawes of God, Nature, and Nations, together with the Dictates of Reason, and the common consent of all Casuists allow that to those which are intrusted with managing the Supream Authoritie of a State or Kingdom, which they doe not allow to a multitude of Private Persons, though they have strength in their hands to effect it.

And

And moreover, although the PARLIAMENT thus took up Arms for the defence of their Persons and Priviledges, and the Preservation of Religion, Lawes, and Liberties; Yet was it not their intention thereby to do violence to the Person of the KING, or devest him of his Regal Authority, and what of right belongeth to him, (as appeares by their many Declarations in that behalf;) Much lesse was it their purpose to subvert and overthrow the whole frame and fundamentall constitution of the Government of the Kingdome, or to give power and authority to any persons whatsoever so to do.

And therefore wee apprehend our selves obliged thus to appeare for the maintenance of our Religion, Lawes and Liberties, together with the Constitution, Power and Priviledges of Parliament, and the settled Government of the Kingdome; both, on the one hand, against all Malignant Counsels and Designs for the introduction of an Arbitrary and Tyrannical power in the King; and, on the other hand, against all irregular licentious proceedings of private Persons, tending to the subversion of them, and to the introduction of Anarchy, Confusion, Profanenesse, and Irreligion.

And we are the more strongly engaged thus to adhere firmly to these our former just Principles, by reason of the severall Oaths and Covenants generally taken throughout the Kingdome, as by the Protestation of May 5. 1641. wherein we do in the presence of " Almighty God promise, vow and protest, according " to the duty of our Allegiance to maintain and defend " with our lives, power and estates, His Majesties Royal " Person, Honour and Estate, and the Power and Priviledges of Parliament. As also by the Vow and Covenant, wherein the Lords and Commons have declared, " that there had then been a treacherous & horrid design

"to surprize the Cities of London and Westminster with "the Suburbs, and by Arms to force the Parliament: And "finding by constant experience, that many ways of force
 "and treachery are continually attempted, &c. Required
 "That all that are true-hearted and lovers of their "Country, should bind themselves each to other in that "sacred Vow and Covenant, wherein we declare our "abhorring and detesting the said wicked and treache"rous designe, and that we would according to our "power and vocation oppose and resist the same, and "all other of the like naturr. And likewise by the Solemn League and Covenant for the Reformation and defence of Religion, the Honour and Happinesse of the K I N G, the Peace and Safety of the Kingdomes, &c.
 "Wherein we have Covenanted, That we will sincerely,
 "really and constantly in our several Vocations, endea"vour to preserve the Rights and Priviledges of the "P A R L I A M E N T S, and Preserve and Defend the
 "K I N G S M A J E S T I E S Person and Authority,
 "in the preservation and defence of the true Religion,
 "and Liberties of the Kingdoms; that the World may
 "beare witnesse with our Consciences of our Loyalty,
 "and that we have no thoughts or intentions to diminish
 "His Majesties just power and greatnesse.

In all which obligations, though the matter of them may be, in part, of Civil concernment, yet the bond and tye of an Oath and Covenant is Religious, sacred, and inviolable. Which though some may esteem no more then an Almanack out of date, yet we look upon it as the Oath of GOD, in whose Name we have sworne, and who will certainly require it at our hands.

We know with what a jealous eye, and severe hand, the LORD avenged the quarrel of his Covenant made by Zedekiah to the King of Babylon, though extorted from him, and prejudicial to him: Shall he prosper (saith God) shall he escape, that doth such things? Or shall he break

In ſtead therefore of joyning in Conſultation with you; We do carneſtly intreat you, in the name of our Lord and Maſter Jeſus Chriſt, whoſe Ambaſſadours we are, That you would commune with your own hearts, Conſider the evil of your preſent wayes, and turn from them; Remember from whence you are fal en, and repent and do your firſt works. You were once honorable and precious in the eyes of us and others of Gods ſervants, while you kept in Gods way, and within your own ſpheare; you had our hearts, our help, and our Prayers for ſucceſſe therein: But alas! you have eclipsed your own glory, and brought a Cloud over all your excellencies. You are now walking in by-paths of your own, wherein we dare not ſay, The bleſſing of the Lord be upon you, We bleſſe you in the name of the Lord, nor bid you God ſpeed, leſt we be partakers of your evil deeds. In ſtead of preſerving the Truth and purity of Religion and the Worſhip of God; we feare, you are opening a door to deſperate and damnable Errors and Hereſies againſt the Truth of God, and to many licentious and wicked practices againſt the worſhip and wayes of God. How is Religion made to ſtink by reaſon of your miſcarriages, and like to become a ſcorn and a reproach in all the Chriſtian world? How are the faces of Gods faithful ſervants covered with ſhame, and their hearts filled with and grief by reason thereof? How is the Golden Cord of Government broken in sunder? the Honor and Authority of Magistracy laid in the Dust? How hath the Parliament, which sustained the force and opposition of professed Enemies for many years, been made contemptible and torn in pieces by professed friends in one day?

You cannot but know how fully and frequently Gods Word commandeth and inforceth obedience and submission to Magistrates, forbidding also and condemning (and that under pain of damnation,) such practices as these of yours are. As likewise what severe threatnings and exemplary judgements from God have been denounced against, and inflicted on the Contemners and Opposers of this his Ordinance. You know what a Brand the Apostle Jude sets upon those that despise Dominion and speak evill of Digniteis. Wo unto them (saith he,) for they have gone in the way of Cain, and runne greedily after the error of Balaam for a reward, and perished in the gaine saying of Corah.

You know the sad examples of Corah, Dathan, and Abiram in their mutinous Rebellion, and Levelling designe against Magistracy and Ministry, in the Persons of Moses and Aaron, You take too much upon you (said they to Moses and Aaron) Seeing all the *Congregation are holy. Wherefore then list you up yourselves above the Congregation of the Lord? Which Moses feares not to call A gathering together against the Lord, and warnes the people to avoide their company, Depart from the Tents of these wicked men, and touch nothing of theirs, least yee be consumed in all their sinnes; After which the Earth opened her mouth, and swallowed them up, with all that appertained to them: And yet there were in that Rebellion a considerable number of Eminent men, two hundred and fifty Princes of the Assembly, famous in the Congregation, men of Renowne.

Num. 16. 3,

11, 26, 32, 33.

29.

Verse 2.

And consonant to the tenor of the Scriptures herein, hath alway been the constant judgement and doctrine of Protestant Divines both at home and abroad, with whose Judgements we do fully concur; disclaiming, detesting and abhorring the wicked and bloody Tenents and Practices of Jesuites, (the worst of Papists,) concerning the opposing of lawfull Magistrates by private Persons, and the murthring of Kings by any, though under the most specious and colourable pretences. Which Jesuiticall Principles and Counsels we feare, may have too great a concurrence with, if not an influence upon these late transactions.

Now we desire you seriously, and as in the sight of God, to examine your owne hearts and wayes, and to deale with your selves as sometimes Nathan did with David. Put case some other Party of men in the Kingdome, whose Principles had not been concurrent with yours, should have attempted acts of such a nature, as those that you have performed; as seising the Kings Person, and removing him from place to place without and against his and the Parliaments consent; would it not have been judged by you an intolerable contempt both of his and their authority? Put case they and their Confederates had attempted the removal of the Parliaments Guards, secured or inhibited a great number of their Members, contrived and promoted new Modules of their owne, destructive to the being both of this and all other Parliaments, with other acts of the like nature; we appeale to your owne consciences, what clamours and accusations against them would from your selves have proceeded. And if in other Persons you would condemne the fact, the Lord grant you hearts to see who are the men. Was it once a crime of the highest nature, to endeavour the subersion of the fundamentall Laws of the Kingdome, to dissuade the calling, or perswade the dissolution of.

Rom. 1. 32.

Rom. 2. 1. 3.

Verse 2. 6. 11.

of Parliaments; to countenance Arminians, or connive at Papists : and can it be now commendable to contrive the subversion of the whole Lawes and Government of the Kingdome all at once; and instead of a few errors to allow, (as we feare some amongst you indeavour,) a totall impunity, and universall Toleration of all Religions? Be not deceived, [God is not mocked : He knows how frequently you condemne that as a great crime in others, which you would have accounted a vertue in your selves ; But God who is no respecter of Persons alloweth no such rule. Those who knowing the judgement of God, that they which commit such things are worthy of death; not only do the same things, but have Pleasure in, (or, consent with) them that do them, in judging another condemne themselves. And thinkest thou this, O man, that judgest them which do such things, and doest the same, that thou shalt escape the judgement of God? No surely, we are sure the judgement of God is according to truth, against them which commit such things, Who will render to every man according to his deeds ; For there is no respect of Persons with God.

Ecclesi. 8. 14.

We desire that you would not be too confident on former Successes. If God have made you prosper while you were in His way, this can be no warrant for you to walk in wayes of your owne, and promise your selves Successe therein; Nay, if through Gods permission (for reasons best knowne to himselfe) you have had or may have Successe in an Evil way, yet is it no justification thereof, nor incouragement to proceed therein. Yea, you know, that it is one of the greatest Judgements, when God suffers men to prosper in sinfull courses. Wise Solomon tels us from his owne experience, that there be sometimes just men to whom it happeneth according to the work of the wicked; again, There be wicked men to whom it happeneth according to the work of the righteous: There is a just just man that perisheth in his righteousness, and there Eccles. 7.15.

 is a wicked man that longeth his life in his wickednesse: But, because sentence against an evill work is not executed speedily, shall therefore the heart of the sonnes of Eccles. 8.11. men be fully set in them to do evill? God forbid.

And therefore the Providence of God (which is so often pleaded in justification of your wayes) is no safe rule to walke by, especially in such acts as the Word of God condemnes. God doth not approve the practice of whatsoever his Providence doth permit. When David, in the cave, had an opportunity to destroy Saul, (who was then in actuall pursuance of him for his life,) David's men make use of such an Argument from Providence, Behold, say they, the day of which the Lord said unto thee, Behold, I will deliver 1 Sam. 24. 4. thine enemy into thine hand that thou maiest do to him as it shall seeme good unto thee, but David neither durst 6, 7, 13.
 himselfe, nor would permit his men to make use thereof; but saith, The Lord forbid that I should do this thing unto my Master the Lords Annoynted, to stretch forth my hand against him. Againe, when David found Saul sleeping in his Trench, behold a Providence (might Abishai have said) God, saith he, hath delivered thine 1 Sam. 26. 3, 9.
 enemy into thine hand this day, now therefore let me smite him, &c. No, saith David, Destroy him not, for who can stretch forth his hand against the Lords Annoynted, and be guiltlesse? But if, to follow Providence, had beene a sufficient warrant; David should have taken another course. In summe, if this be a good warrant, nothing can be a sinne, for nothing can come to passe at all, unlesse the permissive Providence of God afford an opportunity.

Nor is it safe to be guided by Impulses of Spirit, or pretended impressions on your hearts, without or against the rule of Gods written Word. For by this means the temptations of Satan, and the motions of Gods spirit will be put in equall ballance. And we desire

desire you likewise to consider, whether any History, sacred or profane, recordeth any example of an impulse of spirit falling upon Multitudes of Persons at the same time, putting them all at once upon performances contrary to morall Precepts; as also, whether such Persons who are acted by an impulse of spirit, can Command Others who want it, (nay, who do not so much as pretend to have it) to do that unto, which themselves pretend to be so incited? We know that it is the duty of Christians, to try such instigations by the Word of God, and examine how well they agree thereunto, that they may accordingly judge, whether it be the voice of God, or the voice of Satan, and of their owne corrupt hearts, that prompteth them. To the Law and to the Testimony, if they speak not according to this word, it is because there is no light in them. The Apostle Peter directs the Jewes to whom he wrote, to adhere to the word written, as to a more sure word of Prophecie. By the same Rule, whereby we must try the spirits, we must also try the impulses of spirit, otherwise we do exceedingly strengthen the devils hands against our owne soules, and tempt him to tempt us.

Isa. 28. 20.

2 Pet. 1. 19.

If beyond all this you plead Necessity of doing thus, least what you pretend as a glorious worke, might else miscarry, and therefore venture on these wayes, which are by your selves confessed to be irregular and not justifiable; We answer, that no necessity can oblige a man to sinne; God stands not in need of our sinne to carry on his owne worke. Will yee speak wickedly for God, and talk deceitfully for him? saith Job.

Job 13. 7.

And yet this Plea of necessity is of the lesse weight in your case, because, we fear, the ends you aime at, are no more justifiable then the means you use; and the necessity pleaded is either meerly pretended, or at least contracted by your owne miscarriages.

But

But if at any time a Precept of God may be dispensed with upon a Necessity: Yet, we suppose your selves will grant, That this necessity must be Absolute, Present, and Clear, not Doubtful, Uncertain, and Conjectural, as that which is alledged in your case must needs be, it being discerned onely by your selves and your own party. It is most apparent to us, that there was of late no necessity at all of these your irregular practices; the Parliament being (till forced by you) free, and acting what was Covenant-ed for, and (if we mistake not) what was agreed upon long before by the Parliaments of both Kingdoms. Besides, you have engaged your selves by an Oath to preserve his Majesties person, and the Priviledges of Parliament; and this is most clear, That no Necessity can justifie Perjury, or dispence with lawful Oaths; That dreadful flying Roll being ready to scise upon him that swareth falsely by the Name of God. An example of which severe judgement from God, for the violation of an Oath, you have in Saul, who though he did out of a good intention, in his zeal to the children of Israel, slay the Gibeonites (a people formerly accursed, and who had fallaciouly procured a Covenant from Joshua above two hundred years before) yet for Sauls breaking of that Covenant, was the whole Kingdom of Israel, and his posterity in particular, most severely punished by God. Zech. 5. 4.

We do therefore upon the whole matter, seriously beseech you, as in the sight of God, to recede from these evil ways, and contain your selves within your own bounds, to learn John Baptists Lesson for Soldiers, Do violence to no man (or, put no man in fear) neither accuse any man falsely, and be content with your wages. But if you persist in these ways, behold, you have sinned against the Lord, and be sure your sin will finde you out; and take heed, lest, when the hand of God shall overtake you, and turn the wheel upon you, you be found to suffer both as evil doers, and as busie-bodies in other mens matters. 2 Sam. 21.

And when you shall thus return to your duty; as we shall have cause to bless God for it, so we shall not need to fear those threatnings which some of us have received (we say not from your selves, yet) from Messengers directed (as they informed us) immediately from your selves, to some of us, That if we persist to stir up the people to Sedition (for so it seems Luke 3. 14
Num. 32.
1 Pet. 4. 15.

our bewailing your sins before the Lord, is interpreted) and Soldiers do us a mischief, We may thank our selves; That if there follow another War, you will give quarter to none that stands against you; That you will spare neither man, Woman, nor childe, English or Stranger. But if these our Exhortations prevail not, we have discharged our duty, and, we hope,

Ezek 33. 9. delivered our own souls; and if it be our portion to suffer, we 1 Pet 4. 16. trust we shall suffer as Christians, and for well-doing, and 1 Pet. 3. 17. that such sufferings shall be acceptable with God; in whose serve is able to deliver us: To whom, in the discharge of our du-

And thus out of a zeal to Gods glory, a care to discharge our own duties, and an hearty desire after the comfort and salvation of your souls, we have freely and faithfully declared our judgments concerning your late and present proceedings. If the Lord please to make it effectual for your Reformation, we and all the Churches of Christ shall have cause to bless God for you; but if for our sins, and the sins of the Land, the Lord shall make you instruments of misery and confusion (which your present actings do certainly tend to) we will say with Eli,
